

7 Streams of Life

Coaching Tool

The Concept

The 7 Streams of Life

The Streams of Life model is a great tool to use to help clients identify which area of their lives require attention and focus. It can be used for clients that may feel lost, confused or stuck or for those who have a lot they want to work on and unsure of what to prioritise. In the Streams of Life model, 7 streams flow to our mainstream of life. The 7 streams are:

1. Career/Business
2. Finance
3. Family & Friendships
4. Relationship
5. Health
6. Personal Growth
7. Spirituality

These are the areas that form our life. We will find that we may spend more time in some streams than in others. Maybe we sacrificed our health by spending too much time on our career or we neglected our personal growth because we spent too much time on our relationship and with family and friends, whatever the case may be, the Streams of Life model helps paint a picture of our perceived current performance in all streams of our lives.

The Exercise

Applying the model objectively, score a percentage for each of the streams of life below on how you currently perceive your performance, then where you would like your performance to be.

	0	Performance	100	Numbers	Diff.
CAREER
SPIRITUAL
PERSONAL DEVELOPMENT

STREAM TO WORK ON:

The Exercise

Applying the model subjectively, below are some questions we may wish to ask to find out more information.

Which of the 7 Streams of Life is more important to you right now and why?

Which of the 7 Streams of Life do you believe requires your attention right now?

The Exercise

Applying the model subjectively, ask the following questions below.

If you were to put the 7 Streams of Life into a priority list, what would that look like?

What is it about you chosen Stream of Life that requires work and how may you set a goal in this area?
